▶ YOUR HOME Towners would like to congratulate A. H. Eubanks, Jr., Vice-President of The Central National Bank of McKinney, for a job well done as President of The McKinney Chamber of Commerce this past year, 1957. Under the leadership of Mr. Eubanks the McKinney Chamber of Commerce showed one of the largest memberships ever in its history. Mr. Eubanks' father the late A. H. Eubanks, Sr., one of McKinney's and Texas' most prominent citizens and widely known throughout Texas as a progressive and forward looking banker, was president of The McKinney Chamber in 1931. A. H. Jr., has the distinction of being the only president that a father had served before him. The reason a community goes forward is having such citizens and families as the Eubanks of McKinney and as long as we have leaders of this calibre, then McKinney and Collin County will progress. From the folks "Where the Green Lights Are On," to The Big Friendly that you represent as one of its directing heads, we say, 'thanks for a job well done' as president of The McKinney Chamber of Commerce.

Kiwanians Set Pancake Day February 20

The fifth annual Aunt Jemima Pancake Day, sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of McKinney, will be held on Thursday, February 20. Tickets went on sale Saturday morning and from all reports are going fast. If you haven't been contacted ask any member of the Kiwanis Club and you have bought yourself a ticket, or tickets.

The Aunt Jemima Pancake Day is one of two annual money raising projects sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of McKinney to raise money for boys and girls and underprivileged child work in McKinney. It has been the policy of the Kiwanis Club never to ask for an outright gift or contribution to carry on work done by the club. Business establishments in McKinney have been very cooperative in making available merchandise or products from their respective businesses but in return we always try and give them as much or more in advertising. The money we raise through our project goes back into the community in which we live to help in many worthwhile community needs. If you know of any worthy need where the Kiwanis Club can help it should be reported to a member of the club.

We will be serving from the same place, Martins Cafe on Highway 24 west, from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. W. B. (Bill) Martin invited us to use their place again this year. They always close on Thursday so they have just turned the place over to us to use for the day. Needless to say this is a big contribution in its self and we would like to take this means to publicly thank them for the use of their place.

Others who are help make the event possible are Allen's Wholesale meats, Cabell's, Inc., Morton's Food, Foremost Daries, Aunt Jemima Buttermilk Pancake Mix by Quaker Oats. Mark this date on your calendar and plan to bring the family out for a meal of those good Aunt Jemima Buttermilk pancakes, pure Cabells butter, Morton's syrup and those good homemade sausage from Allen's Wholesale Meat. NAMED TO LIVESTOCK COMMISSION

COL. GEORGE APPLE

Col. George Apple, one of the Southwest's outstanding auctioneers and dairymen, was appointed by Governor Daniel to the State Livestock Sanitary Commission on Tuesday. Headquarters for the five-member board is Fort Worth.

The Commission has charge of health and movement of livestock over the state, with Col. Apple representing the dairymen's division.

The appointment of this McKinney man to the board is quite an honor, and Col. Apple is being congratulated upon having been named to the important livestock commission.

Col. Apple, who has grown up in the livestock industry, is a son of the late Sam Apple, pioneer dairyman of McKinney and Collin County. He owns and operates a dairy farm just South of McKinney, known as Apple Acres, and buys and sells cattle at all times. At the present time, he has some 100 head of cattle. His brother, Ed Apple, assists in this phase of the work. They buy and ship cattle all over the United States and parts of Mexico.

Col. Apple is most noted as an auctioneer, having conducted livestock sales throughout the Southwest. In fact, he says "booked ahead" for dairy farm and stock sales at all times. Mrs. Apple accompanies her husband to these sales, "keeping books" for him.

His contact with livestock men throughout the country, has made it possible for him to know 10,000 or more dairymen by name, and within the past few years he has sold over a million dollars worth of cattle at public auction. He also holds oil lease sales for the University of Texas twice each year, having sold over $75 million in oil leases during the past seven or eight years.

Col. Apple's wife is the former Miss Ruby Milligan, and they have one son, Dr. Bill Apple of Plano. Their three attractive young granddaughters are Penny, Jenny and Nancy Apple.

The Apples are members of the First Presbyterian Church, where he is an Elder and former Sunday School superintendent. Col. Apple is also a member of the McKinney Chamber of Commerce, Texas Jersey Cattle Club, Holstein-Friesian Club and Brown-Swiss Cattle Club, of the state.

The Trade Development Committee is composed of Tom W. Perkins Jr., chairman; Harry Asimakis, J. E. Ferguson, Fletcher Anderson, Mrs. Julia Walters, Mrs. Inez Wilson, Laud Howell, Sam Davidson, George W. Moore, Dwayne Howell and George Webb. Barney Newton is D.E. teacher.

Fred McKinney, president of the McKinney School Board, presented the certificates.

Pat Simpson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, expressed appreciation to the committee for the success of the program; to the D.E. department, Collin County National Bank, for use of the Community Room, as well as to all others assisting. Each evening refreshments of coffee and cold drinks were serveed.

Proctor recently moved to Dallas with his family, where he was assigned to the Naval Base at Grand Prairie.

City Street Commission Holds Meeting

Members of the City Street Commission held their initial meeting Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in the City Hall. Members of the new commission are Erwin Kissinger, chairman; Carl Melton, Martel Smith, Harlow White and Walter Commons. Also meeting with the group were City Commissioner Bennie F. Love, City Secretary, Mrs. Iona Dougles, and the consulting engineer, Homer A. Hunter of Dallas.

The new commission, appointed to work with the consulting engineer in the street rehabilitation program in McKinney, laid ground work for the major project, studying the may or master plans, and discussing main arteries of travel which will probably be first in the repair job.

Due to lack of curbing and gutters in many sections of the city, the ecommission discussed this part of the street program, in which property owners will be responsible for the cost. Several petitions have already been received by the City Secretary's office, and others are soon expected. Where there are no curbs or gutters, new ones will be built, at the property owner's expense. If local contractors are employed to do this portion of the work, specifications must meet those drawn up by the consulting engineer.

It will be remembered that in the street bond election held several months ago, financing of curbs and gutters was not included in street rehabilitation project.

The commission will meet again February 21 at 7 p.m. at the City Hall.

United Fund '58 Officers Named

★ ★ ★

By FRANCES STOGDILL

Frank W. Smith, local business man and civic leader, was elected 1958 president of the Greater McKinney United Fund at the annual meeting held Tuesday afternoon.

W. B. (Bill) Finney, retiring president, presided over the meeting which was held at 3:30 p.m. in the Community Room of the Collin County National Bank. The meeting was open to all contributors to the United Fund, and was well attended. Kenneth Eubanks recorded the minutes.

Ten new directors were elected to a three-year term as follows: Frank W. Smith, Paul Hardin, Mrs. Edgar Bush, Royal Stephenson, Laud Howell, Harry Asimakis, A. H. Witherspoon, James Stewart, J. M. Whisenant and Dr. T. R. Leen.

Stephenson and Turrentine, co-chairmen for the annual drive last October, made reports, stating that 98 per cent of the goal was collected or pledged, and all 10 agencies represented in the United Fund would receive the amount submitted in their budgets. The quota was $24,860, and was within $400 of that amount when the drive officially closed.

Both chairmen, as well as officers of the United Fund praised the workers for their efforts during the campaign. This was probably the hardest drive in the three-year history of the UF, due to the increase of $2,400 to the general budget, but the results were rather satisfying. It will be remembered that the Community Center was an added agency.

Boyd Williams, of the nominating committee, submitted names of new directors, who were elected by acclamation.

Retiring directors are: A. H. Eubanks, Raul Saba, Fred McKinney, Mrs. Karl Talkington, Jim Ferguson, John Lowry, Mrs. Julia Walters, Wilbur Thompson and Kenneth Eubanks.

Holdover directors are: Kenneth O'Brien, George W. James, Geldon Roberts, Boyd Williams, Carl Cox, Gibson Caldwell, W. T. Dungan, John Gay, George Webb, W. B. Finney, Choice McClure, Dr. Charles McKissick, Audie Turrentine, Bob Clark, Newton Burkett, Leroy Richardson, Clyde Horn, Jim Caldwell, James Redden and Tommy White.

Following the regular meeting, President Finney called the board of directors together to elect officers for the year. Nominations were made from the floor, and the following officers were elected:

President, Frank W. Smith.
First vice president, Paul Hardin.
Second vice president, George Webb.
Treasurer, James Stewart.
Secretary, John Gay.

At that three-day affair, all members of the board are urged to attend as many of the sessions as possible. Mrs. W. W. McKinney Gets First Snow Of Season

▶ THE FIRST snow in several years, fell here Tuesday night. The thin blanket of snow measured a half-inch, according to Capt. Roy Hall, local weather observer, which amounts to .5 of an inch of rainfall.

The snow began at 9:45 p.m. Tuesday and stopped about 2:35 a.m. today. A few flurries fell in December, but melted as fast as they hit the ground. Capt. Hall states it has been several years since a heavy snow was recorded here.

NEWS FROM THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS —of— THE COLLIN CO. SOIL CONSERVATION DIST.

Waterways are often referred to as the foundation of a soil and water conservation plan. In this area, grassed waterways are a necessary part of any plan where terraces are needed. Whenever a landowner has established good waterways, he was completed the foundation, and he feels safe in going ahead with terrace construction.

The following amounts of terracing have recently been completed by cooperators who are using well grassed waterways for outlets: P. D. Campbell, southeast of McKinney, 1 mile; W. T. Perkins, Celina, 2 miles; Roy Roberts, Chambersville, 0.5 mile; Claude Purnell, McKinney, 3 miles; J. M. Bounds, Bloomdale, 0.2 mile; O. W. Spurgin, southeast of McKinney, 0.6 miles. Lines were run by Soil Conservation Service technicians from the McKinney work unit.

Clover planting (both Hubam and Madrid) will get under way the latter half of February. Moisture conditions are good and there is a plentiful supply of seed locally. The earlier plantings of clover are usually the best because clover roots have more time to become well established before the hot summer weather. Indications are that there will be a large acreage of sweet clovers planted in the Collin Soil Conservation District this spring.

Landowners who have recently become District cooperators and who are starting one or more conservation practices this year are Sam Chesney, R. L. Dalton, and J. L. Neal of Rhea Mills; G. E. McWhorter and Russel Wilson of McKinney; Jim Ray Cornelius of Celina; L. B. Hatfield and R. M. Ernst, southeast of McKinney; G. L. Cook of Weston; Ernest Cross, north of Princeton; Raymond Nelson, south of Rhea Mills; L. A. Joplin, west of McKinney; and Lawrence L. White near Prosper. Several of these farmers are ready to start sodding waterways as the first step in carrying out a conservation program on their land.

PREPACKAGING FOODS OFFER ADVANTAGES

Prepackaging of food is often thought of as an extra service to the consumer. And it is frequently used as an explanation for the rising costs involved in marketing farm products.

Both these ideas are sound, says B. G. Hancock, extension horticulturist, but overlooked is the fact that packaging may als be of great advantage to the producer and seller of farm goods. He cites prepackaging carrots as an example.

As recently as 1951, only about 1 per cent of the fresh carrots was sold prepackaged. More than 85 per cent are now sold this way. This change is due in part to advantages to the grower, shipper, retailer and consumer.

Prepackaged carrots are topped by the grower as they are harvested. There are no tops to pay freight on and no need for ice to keep the useless tops cool. Retailers report handling costs reduced from 14 cents per sales dollar and waste and spoilage losses cut from 8 to less than 1 per cent. Space required for handling carrots is cut and the firm bags reduce spoilage and extend shelf-life, making possible a continuous supply of fresh carrots. Housewives, too, prefer the fresher, crisper and cleaner carrots.

Ten years of research by the U.S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the carrot industry led to adoption of efficient arrangements. Prepackaged carrots show how marketing research can lead to benefits all along the line from the producer to the consumer.

FERTILIZING FISH POND INCREASES POUNDS OF FISH, AIDS WEED CONTROL

Applying fertilizer to the farm fish pond not only increases the amount of food in the water but also is one of the best practices for controlling submerged mosses in the pond, says Ed Copper, extension wildlife specialist.

The first application of fertilizer should be made immediately, he says. Since the pond water is usually deficient in the same nutrients as is the soil over which the water flows into the pond or tank, Cooper suggests the use of the same commercial mixture as is used for crops on the farm. An initial application of 100 pounds for each surface acre of water is suggested. This amount should cause a change in the color of the water. This is due to the development of a great amount of plankton which is used for food by the fish and organisms upon which fish feed. Bloom is another term used to describe the water in a properly fertilized pond.

Cooper advises periodic checks of the pond to determine when additional fertilizer applications are needed. He says to submerge the arm into the water to elbow depth and if the thumb can be plainly seen, more fertilizer should be applied. Only the amount required to get the desired bloom should be applied and this may be about half of the first application.

Pond fertilization should be stopped during the hot summer months. The fertilizer can cause a shortage of oxygen in the water, especially during the periods when the wind is not strong enough to cause wave action. Fish will die when their oxygen supply is depleted.

Finally, Cooper emphasizes that all of the fertilizer to be used during the year should not be applied at one time. Start now and enough applications to maintain the desired bloom. The shading from the bloom will also control submerged mosses and make fishing and swimming in pond more enjoyable.

WORK SAVING SHRUBS.

Many of our common shrubs can be listed as work saving shrubs if they are planted in the right place, and if soil preparation is made ahead of time, says Miss Sadie Hatfield, specialist in homestead improvement for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In listing jobs required by shrubs Miss Hatfield believes that watering and fertilization head the list. Rated as second and third are the problems of diseases and insect control and pruning.

One mistake which many people make, continues Miss Hatfield, is in the use of young trees as shrubs. This results in later pruning problems and lack of balance in the landscape plan.

With the ranch type house that many people are building these days, she suggests that special attention be given to the use of true shubs...That is, shrubs that will not grow over 8 to 10 feet tall even if they are neglected for several years. There are many of these shrubs which will survive with very little water and which have few insect inemies and diseases. Examples of such shrubs which might be used near the house are nandina, abelia, rosemary, lavendar, fitzer juniper, dwarf pyracantha, flowering almond and others.

Attractive plants which require little water and are suitable for use in screen plantings and wind breaks include althea, Arizona cypress, cherry laurel, French mulberry, crape myrtle and desert willow.

Careful selection and placement of shrubs in the landscape plan will result in satisfaction for years to come—and save work, too.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

SUING YOUR SCHOOLS.

International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Local No. 59; American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Local No. 1442; United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipe Fitting Industry, Local No. 100; Brotherhood of Painters, Locals No. 53 and No. 1837, and the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Local No. 2848, are suing you.

That is, they are suing you if you are a taxpayer and live within the Dallas Independent School District. They demand the right to come before you (as represented by the superintendent of the district) and present the grievances of six school employees who are members of these unions.

There is no question by anybody of the right of these six individuals to present any grievance they may have to you as represented by the school administratin and there settle the matter face to face. But these men are paying dues to their unions. They claim that they ought to be heard through the business agent or other officials of the union.

Now that you are a party to the suit, what sort of editorial would you write about the situation? What amendment to the state law would you make? The law allows school employees to join the union. Would you change it to allow them to strike, to picket, to boycott? Or would you amend it to forbid joining the unions?

Something is going to come of this. It will affect you. It will affect your taxes. It will affect your schools. It will affect your children. It will affect the thinking of generations to come. You are being sued. What do you think? What do you say? After all, you know, this is your country too.—Dallas News.

CORNER

Pat Simpson, manager of the McKinney Chamber of Commerce, cautioned residents of McKinney and Collin County today to beware of high pressure telephone salesmen offering securities.

Citing a warning issued by the National Better Business Bureau with which the Chamber is affiliated, Mr. Simpson stated that many inexperienced investors are receiving high-pressure telephone calls from self-styled brokerage firms in New York and Canada urging the purchase of shares in obscure or highly speculative companies. Because of this increased "boiler room" activity the manager stated that the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission has warned investors to protect themselves by observing the following rules:

1. Befort buying . . . Think!
2. Don't deal with strange securities firms. (Consult your broker.).
3. Beware of securities offered over the telephone by strangers.
4. Don't listen to high-pressure sales talk.
5. Beware of promises of spectacular profits.
6. Be sure you understand the risks of loss.
7. Don't buy on tips and rumors . . . Get all the facts!
8. Tell the salesman to: Put all the information and advice in writing and mail it to you . . . Save it!
9. If you don't understand all the written information . . . Consult a person who does.
10. Give at least as much consideration to buying securities as you would the purchase of any valuable property.

"In summary," the McKinney Chamber of Commerce recommends: "Before You Invest — Investigate."

A demonstration was given on setting the table, the right and wrong ways. Mrs. Houston Hogge from the Murphy Home Demonstration Club demonstrated the wrong way to set the table. Half of the women counted the hand motion of Mrs. Hogge in setting the table and the other half counted the steps taken to complete the job. 162 hand motions were made and 500 steps were taken by Mrs. Hogge in setting the table for two people. The home demonstartion agent set the table by making one trip to the table. Everything was put on a tray and put on the table with no trips around the table. The cloth, silver and napkins were placed on the table by standing middle ways of the table and not having to make any extra steps.

A comparison was made to show the women that when a job was well organized it took less time and less motion and certainly less energy. A check sheet was given to each leader to check different activities that they could conserve time an denergy. Each leader will be given a check sheet to check with her members to see if they check the time and motion and help them to make better use of their time and motion.

Plano Youth Graduate Of Watchtower Bible School, New York

JOHN N. HENDRIX

John N. Hendrix, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hendrix of Plano, will graduate February 9 from the Watchtower Bible School of Gilead, South Lansing, New York, after which he will be sent immediately to France as a special ministerial representative of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Mr. Hendrix, well known in this area, graduated from Plano High School in 1943. He was for 12 years associated with the Watchtower's Brooklyn headquarters, has served with various congregations in New York City, and during the past seven years served as an associate editor of the Witnesses' religious news magazine "Awake!" now regularly published in 15 languages throughout the world.

"Spreading good news earthwire might be the theme of our unusual missionary school," Hendrix said.

He explained: "Everywhere people are in fear, not knowing the Bible's simple solution to the problems the world faces. However, in this world of crime and delinquency there is sure confidence in a change — a change that is assured in God's Word, but that is coming in His way, not man's."

"The Scriptural studies here at Gilead School," Hendrix said, "have sharpened our appreciation of how we are living in history's most momentous time, and now our work is to show people where these events are indicated in their own Bibles and how we are at the time when this God-promised change will occur."

During the past 15 years, he said Gilead School, sponsored by the Watertower Society, the directing agency for Jehovah's Witnesses, has received over 3,000 students from 59 countries. It has given them an intensified course of missionary training, and has sent them out as ministers to more than 100 lands.

Students of the present 30th class, with which Mr. Hendrix will graduate, will be sent to 24 countries, including Argentina, Peru, England, Norway, South Africa, Haiti, Colombia and Korea. Other graduates are being assigned to organizational and supervisory duties among Jehovah's Witnesses in the United States and Canada, and, of course, our own representative from Plano is being sent to France.

Gilead's sole purpose, he said, is the training of missionary ministers to aid in the Witnesses' world-wide educational work.

To aid in this the graduates have received training in Bible Research, Scriptural Facts, Biblical Law and Prophecy, Language, History of Worship, Public Speaking, Theocratic Ministry and Missionary Service.

This school and its intensified training has played a great part in the expansion of the Witnesses' world-wide Bible educational activity, now carried on by nearly three-quarters of a million people in 164 lands throughout the earth.

"This activity is leading to such rapid growth," Hendrix stated, "that 60,000 new minsters are added to the Witnesses' ranks every year."

Two thousand persons are expected to attend the graduation program in South Lansing, New York, next week, including Mr. Hendrix' parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hendrix of this city.

Winfred Taylor Guest Speaker At Lions Club

Salient facts about the McKinney-Collin County Health Unit, were told the Lions Club members and guests here Wednesday noon by Winfred Taylor, local sanitarian, at the regular weekly club program.

Lions A. M. and Frank Wolford were the program committee for the day, the former introducing the speaker.

An attendance of some 74 members and guests was present for the delightful luncheon, served in the Fellowship Hall of the First Christian Church. Garner Jones, H. G. Cooper and T. E. Wyatt, led the opening songs, and Rev. Tommy Watson gave the invocation.

Guests introduced by Lion Clifford Byrd were Jack Churchill, guest of Lion Wendall Shelton; Dale Wolford of Greenville, guest of his brother, Judge A. M. Wolford; Morris Rice and Jack Thompson, of Dallas, guests of Lion Pat Simpson.

Mr. Taylor explained the health unit what it strives to accomplish, and the services rendered. McKinney has one of the 43 units, operated through the State Health Department at Austin, and City and County governments.

The speaker summarized his work which includes inspection of food establishments, and general sanitation.

His work not only includes inspection of every source of food handling, but lighting, heating, ventilation and play ground hazards in schools are also studied. Regular visits are made to convalescent homes, where operators are aided in securing licenses and maintaining a minimum standard.

Surveys and inspection of water and sewage systems over the county requires considerable time and study. Mr. Taylor was proud to report that five Collin towns have fully approved water systems, and there are also new sewage disposal systems in an equal number of towns in the county. Other towns are working on similar programs realizing how vitally necessary approved water and sewerage are toward inducing industry into their areas.

In season the Sanitarium makes regular inspection of swimming pools, and also includes motels and tourists courts in his inspection duties.

Insect control is a most necessary part of the Unit's program, and resulted in eight simultaneous spraying programs last summer, which was most satisfactory.

Advisory and consultative work with rural residents in their building, water and disposal problems, visits to Grade A Dairies, keep him busy also.

The work of the local unit with doctors in handling communicable diseases is one of most importance stated Mr. Taylor. This includes studying the disease, its causes, and limiting its spread. He used the Salk vaccine program here as an example of the value of this program which has given Collin County an enviable record in the state and nation, because of its acceptance here. "Dividends will be measured in the lives that are saved by administering the Salk shots" he said.

Mr. Taylor's talk dealt with rabies control, and he elaborated on "Urban Renewal," a program for towns under 25,000 population, applying for planning aid, half of which is borne by Federal funds, and half by the city. The main objective of this program is to eliminate and prevent blighted areas, and calls for master planning.

The sampling program of the local unit was discussed, showing how samples of milk, water, food, "and even air" are periodically sampled and sent to regional laboratories for study. This of course maintains purity in these substances.

The nursing program, carried on through the local health unit, course a wide scope, including preschool clinics, well-child clinics, and physically handicapped.

Thousands of vaccine shots have been administered through his office, at a cost of over $16,000.

In closing he stressed a need for more nurses and sanitarians as well as a public health building to carry on this necessary work in McKinney and Collin County, both of which are steadily growing.

Mr. Taylor's talk was considered one of the most informative and educational ever brought before the club, and was well received.

Pat Simpson introduced Jack Thompson of Dallas, who with Morris Rice, is here in the interest of developing a new country club in Southwest Collin County. The club site will extend into Dallas county. Mr. Thompson briefly gave a "floor plan" of the new club and the facilities it will offer its members.

Mexican Stabbed At Migrant Camp Near Princeton

A Mexican, residing at the Migrant Camp at Princeton, is in the County Jail for investigating of assault to murder, following the stabbing of another Mexican there Saturday night. The victim, with knife wounds in his chest, stomach and throat, was reported in fair condition in the City-County Hospital Monday morning.

Deputies Brooks and Lorance of the Sheriff's Department, are making the investigation.

Sheriff Floyd Williams and Deputy Jim Standerfer were in Nevada over the week-end investigating burglary of the post office there. Taken from the safe were $95 in cash and a quantity of money orders. The Evans grocery was also entered but nothing has been reported missing.

Deputies Standerfer and Ramsey arrested a McKinney man Saturday, on the Fitzhugh Mills road, a mile Southeast of town, with two cases of wine, half pint whiskey and three quarts of beer. He will be charged with transporting intoxicating liquors.

City officers report the arrest of six drunks. One person is being held in jail for investigation.

Kiwanians See Film On Radio Free Europe

A film entitled "The Life Line of Freedom," on Radio Free Europe and Press Free Europe, was shown at the Kiwanis Club meeting Thursday evening at the First Methodist Church. Earl Myrick, program chairman, had charge of the film.

John Daly, nationally known news comentator, narrated the film, which was most informative.

President Victor Threlkeld, was in charge of the business session during which time additional plans were made for Pancake Day, February 20. The club will also present a program on March 17 to the Greater Gainesville Kiwanis Club, recently organized there.

Following the regular supper meeting President Threlkeld called the directors together for their monthly meeting.

Mrs. Florine Gateley of Dallas, visited her sister, Miss Madeline Moses, here Tuesday and attended the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet Tuesday evening.

Dairy Specialist Suggests Taste Tests For Milk

Good quality milk tastes and smells good. These are the standards by which consumers judge milk and if the product they buy isn't pleasing on these points, a new source of supply is sought.

It pays the dairyman to give his own milk a regular taste test, says A. M. Meekma, extension dairy specialist. Early detection of a bad flavor or odor, and prompt efforts to remove its cause, can save serious troubles that are almost sure to follow if off-flavored milk is Meekma lists some of the undesirable tastes and how they may be prevented. An acid, sour taste is caused by bacterial growth. Faster cooling or improved sanitation is needed. A bitter taste may come from strong feeds or weeds or by conditions in the milk of cows late in the lactation period.

"Cowy" flavors may result from poorly cleared of poorly ventilated barns or a cow not feeling up to par. A cow breathing impure air will pass the odors along in her milk. Disinfectant not completely washed out of containers may be a source of undesirable taste. Wild onions or garlic in the pasture can make milk undesirable for use and other strong flavors may be overcome by feeding strong-flavored feeds after milking, says Meekma.

Milk not properly cooled or handled with improperly cleaned milking equipment may taste malty. A metallic flavor may occur if milk comes in contact with certain metals. Musty feed or stagnont water can cause a musty favor in milk while a salty taste could point to mastitis, says the specialist.

As an aid in preventing off-flavors and maintaining quality in milk, Meekma sugests that a copy of "Judging and Scoring Milk", a USDA publication, be obtained by writing to the Office of Information, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D.C., or from the local county agent.

Wylie Cantaloupe Coop Meets There February 21, 7:30 p.m.

The Wylie Cantaloupe Co-op will have the deadline sign-up meeting at the Wylie school Friday night, February 21 at 7:30 o'clock. For those who are interested in joining this program this will be the last opportunity to sign up this crop year.

Some of the points governing the operation of this organization have been discussed and adopted. Other points needed will be adopted at this meeting.

The Co-oop has adopted a policy of charging $2.50 per acre to pay for the machinery and other necessary expense to start the project. The processor has a good shipping market for the No. 1 and No. 2 fruit and the grower can do as he pleases with his culls. Arrangements have been made with the Wylie bank to finance anyone who wants financing on the $2.50 charge.

It is planned for Mr. Trautmann, the shipper, to be at the meeting and discuss problems of the grower. Anyone wishing additional information may contact the following officers and directors:

AFC Gives Rules For Families To Handle Money

By ROBERT G. SHORTAL
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (UP)—Consumers might be much better off if they handled their financial affairs like corporations.

The American Finance Conference believes every family should have its "books" audited each year, a practice commonplace in industry.

In this way, says the conference president, Francis J. Conway, families would have a clear idea of how they stand financially and would be better able to plan their future purchases.

He notes that the "family corporation's" annual business meeting should have two major items on the agenda:

—Evaluating the family's financial capacity on the basis of size and regularity of income, weighed against living costs and obligations.

—Reviewing what it owns and fixing sights on specific things to buy in the coming year within the framework of the budget.

With such information as a guide, Conway adds, families are in a position to obtain more goods without either over-committing or under-committing themselves.

"One big merit of an annual economic review for a family is that it focuses attention on the best timing of purchases—a factor which may be fully as important as the nature of the goods themselves," he notes.

Conway, whose association represents the nation's independent sales finance companies, notes that installment buying has made it possible for families to better plan the timing of the purchases. He said consumers use credit wisely, just as business firms use it for timely additions to plants.

However, Conway cites four big don't which every family should be aware of before using instalment credit:

—Don't overbuy or take on too many payments at the same time.

—Don't sign any blank contracts.

—Don't shop just for terms.

—Don't buy if you have to borrow the down payment.

Texas Counties Join Resources For Development

BROWNWOOD, Tex. (UP). — Four Texas counties, located within 50 miles of the state's geographical center, have combined their resources and the thinking of their leaders in a program to industry, agricultural and business.

The leaders of the movement, who held their fifth meeting Feb. 4 in Coleman, call it the Heart of Texas Development Association.

The counties in the association are Brown, San Saba, Coleman and McCulloch. They are all within 50 miles of the geographical heart of Texas, a point in McCulloch county about 21 miles Northeast of Brady.

The Heart of Texas Development Association is not a closed corporation. It will welcome adjoining areas which "might form a unified economic entity within the heart of Texas."

◆ ◆ ◆

CHAMBERS ARE MEMBERS.

Membership in the association is vested in the principal chamber of commerce organizations in each of the various counties of the area. Where there is no chamber, the board of directors may qualify any other suitable county-wide organization for membership.

Leaders of the counties, who set up the association, established a working fund. Each county chamber of commerce was assessed 1½ cents per resident, giving the association $967.15 with which to start work.

Each county will begin at once to survey its own potentialities. Those surveys will then be combined to form a Heart of Texas survey.

Each county also is still responsible for its own industrial development.

◆ ◆ ◆

WORK WITH GROUPS.

But if a county fails to meet the qualifications of an industrial prospect, then it will work with the development association to get the industry to locate within one of the other counties.

The association also plans to promote the natural resources of the area. It will do this by listing the mineral and other resources and advising industries which might be interested in the resources.

The next meeting of the association will be March 3 in Brownwood. Three members from each chamber of commerce in the four-county area will attend and form the association's first board of directors.

Texas Turnpike May Be World's Safest Highway

By PRESTON McGRAW
United Press Staff Correspondent

DALLAS (UP). — The 29.5—Dallas-Fort Worth turnpike, the only toll road in Texas, may be the safest highway in the United States.

Jack Davis, the engineer-manager of the $58,500,000 turnpike, said today that its average is .75 of an accident per million miles traveled on it.

The national average for toll roads, according to the American Bridge, Tunnel and Turnpike Assn., is 1.35 accidents per million miles traveled. On public highways it is 1.63.

The Dallas-Fort Worth turnpike hasn't had a fatal accident since it opened for busines last August 27. In fact, only six of the 28 accidents through 1957 on the turnpike involved injuries. Nobody had to go to a hospital.

◆ ◆ ◆

ROAD DESIGN HELPS.

"Our safety record is due to three factors," Davis said. One is the design of the road. The most modern safety features available are incorporated in it.

"The second factor is the job being done by the special detail of highway patrolmen assigned to the turnpike.

"The third factor is the people themselves. We took a speed check recently and found that of 4,888 vehicles, 60 per cent was going under the 60-mile-an-hour speed limit.

"An additional 31 per cent was driving under 70. Only 9 per cent was exceeding 70 miles an hour and less than two-thirds of one per cent was driving 80 or more."

A drunken driver has less chance of getting on the toll road than on a public highway. If a driver looks suspicious to a toll-taker, he talks to him until the highway patrol can be summoned.

◆ ◆ ◆

NEAR BREAK-EVEN POINT.

The turnpike hasn't make any money yet, but it is getting near the break-even point. Davis said that through the month of December, the road averaged 14,500 cars a day. It has a average 15,000 to break even.

It looks as if traffic has picked up since the first of the year and Davis expects to hit the 15,000-a-day clip by July.

"It's a gradual growth, depending on a change in driving habits, and the safety factor," he said.

12-man special patrol, under Sgt. Jack Sutherland, spends more time giving assistance and directions than in making arrests. Sometimes motorists ned a good deal of assistance.

◆ ◆ ◆

RAN OUT OF GAS.

One man recently ran out of gas. The highway patrol, rushing to help, discovered his automobile burned propane instead of gasoline. They went all the way to Arlington to find a service station that sold propane.

Toll takers report that motorists occasionally slip them Mexican half dollars. They look so much like U. S. coins that they are counting the day's receipts before they discover the difference.

Toll takers get so many requests for directions that they have standard printed directions for such points as Love and Carter Air Fields, Texas Christian University and Southern Methodist University and the Dallas Fair Grounds.

Motorists also ask toll takers frequently for matches. Turnpike officials, scenting an opportunity for a public relations job, are having special matches prepared.
